

Presentation Synopsis:

We prepare every day for emergencies within our communities, for regional disasters, and for events that jeopardize the life and property of the citizens we're entrusted to protect. But what about the facilities from which we deliver these services?

Have we given the same rigor of emergency preparedness to our facility preparedness? Are we prepared to maintain those facilities through a prolonged economic slump? Are we prepared to take advantage of an economic recovery when it does eventually come? Are we prepared for what a major earthquake might do to our aged fire stations? Are we prepared to admit that we may need to find a new approach to tackling capital facility projects? Are we prepared?
